English	This week, we have a new book 'The Secret Sky Garden.' The children have explored a range of texts and identified the theme. They created and described a character and also described a range of settings.
Maths	This week we have continued learning addition and subtraction within 20. We looked at doubles, near double, subtracting one using number bonds and counting back.
History	We have started with our new theme 'Why is the history of my locality significant?' The children have written what they already know about Rugby and what they would like to find out.
Science	We will continue with the theme 'animals including humans' after half-term. The children have been learning about the human body and labelling the parts of the body, for example the head, and arms.
